

After a long winter and chilly spring we are all ready for the warmth and fun of summer. Although a busy time of year, there are some great opportunities to provide your pet the best possible care.

Dog Training Classes

We are into our second year offering puppy and adult training classes. We welcome Carolyn Crowe back to our training staff. Carolyn comes from over 25 years of dog positive reinforcement training experience. Classes run on Tuesday evenings in 6 week blocks. The next session will start 6/12. There are limited individual session times available upon request.

Noise Phobias

Along with the holidays and celebrations this summer come the dazzling assortment of fireworks displays. To us, these are awe inspiring to say the least; but to our furry friends, they can be a big source of anxiety. Call us today to discuss medication and behavioral modification techniques to make this time of the year more fun for you and your pet.

AAHA Accreditation

Many of our clients are likely unaware of the accreditation that we received from the American Animal Hospital Association last year. This is a rigorous set of standards focusing on all aspects of patient care. Accreditation is a continuing process requiring annual retraining and reinspection. See their website at <https://www.aaha.org/default.aspx> for more information. Please ask what AAHA accreditation means to us.

Parasite Prevention

With warmer weather comes an increase in our local heartworm carrying mosquito, flea, and tick populations. Please contact us today for options for preventing these nasty little critters.

Enjoy your summer festivities and please call us for any of your companion animal needs at 810-648-8230!
